73rd Rallye Sanremo tomorrow the start at 03.00 pm. Extensive television coverage.

SANREMO, 16 October – With the route reconnaissance now complete, the 73rd Rallye Sanremo – the final and decisive round of the 2026 Sparco Italian Rally Championship – is in full swing. The Rally of Western Liguria is set to crown the drivers’ champion following a season that has seen the leading contenders battle it out across the six rounds contested so far, with no fewer than three different winners.

A total of 77 crews will tackle the 150 km of special stages that have shaped the history of Italian rallying.

Roberto Daprà and Luca Guglielmetti, in the number 1 Skoda Fabia RS, will be the first to get the start, followed by Bostjan Avbely and Andrejka Damijan, who will also be behind the wheel of the Czech car. The third contender is Andrea Crugnola, with Luca Beltrame as co-driver, in their Lancia Ypsilon HF. Simone Campedelli and Tania Canton will be driving a Toyota GR Yaris, whilst Fabio Andolfi from Liguria – always quick on the roads of the Liguria hinterland – will be looking to find the right feel with his Lancia Ypsilon HF.

THE PROGRAM OF THE TELEVISION COVERAGE

Rai will broadcast two special stages over the race weekend: on Saturday 17th at 14:55, the “Porto Sole” special stage will be streamed on raipaly.it (with a recorded broadcast on Rai Sport at 23:00), whilst on Sunday 18th at 14:45, the final Power Stage, “Semoigo – Bajardo”, will be covered live on Rai Sport.
